From the Washington States. Our Foreign Relations Eighty Years Ago.

In Mr. Cushing's recent speech, to which we have before alluded, an extract was made from a secret & only recently published memorial addressed by the Count of Aranda to his master, Charles III. of Spain on the occasion of the signing of the treaty between Spain and England, after the termination of the war which terminated in the acknowledgment of American independence. From the prophetic nature of Aranda's view of the results of our independence, considerable attention has been attracted to his memorial so much, in eed, that it has been translated by the Boston Courier, and published in full b some promment journals. The Intelligencer of Wednesday prefaces the memorial with a notice of Aranda's career, one point of which, however, it is only necessary to bear in mind, to wit: that he enjoyed a special mis-Spanish authority has thrown doubts on the genuine divert us from its ability, nor le sen the insight of Spanish policy given in it; though it may, as the Intelligencer says, " greatly detract from the importhe sagacity of the Count of Aranda." Whether the latter is responsible or not for it, is of no very great importance to us. It is Spanish in its inception, advice, and purposes, and might as well have emanated from Aranda as any other Spanish politician or di plomat who had well read his country's past Furoallusion to it, continue to attribute it to Aranda.

The memorial is a deep sigh. It is a strong wail against what has taken place, conveying such important a lvice as grows out of misfortune. As he cannot war with fate, Aranda projects means to harmonize nations-those, at least, from which Spain was to sap life blood. While he outlined in bold and distinct periods the future of America, he was utterly opposed to allowing her the chance of becoming what he telt she would become. The signing of the treaty " has left," he writes, " in my mind a painful sentiment." It was to him "a motive of sorrow and of fear," that the independence of the "English colonies" was acknowledged: and bitterly complains of the policy adopted by France, which not only committed her to the cause of the Americans, but also dragged Spain on that side. He complains that France acted without consideration, and remain exposed to terrible convulsions" He writes " From the beginning, France has operated against her true interests in stimulating and favoring this independence. Many times have I so declared to the ministers of that na-What better thing could France desire than to see the English and their colonists mutually destroy one another in a war of partisans, which could not fail to augment her power and favor her interests? The antipathy which reigns etween France and England blinded the French Cabinet .-It forgot that the interests of France consisted in remaining a tranquil spectator of the struggle, and, once launched into the arena, it unfortunately dragged us with it, in virtue of the family-pact, to a war entirely contrary to our proper

It is interesting to look at the French side of the business, and see whether we can trace any identification thereon with the principles laid down by

Aranda in the paragraph quoted. The French ambassador at London at the commencement of difficulties with America was the Duc de Guines, a man of sprightly parts, but of not remarkable capacity. He derived his information from his witty, but wiser friends, politicians connected with the English ministry; so that much actual firmly bound together by a cord, and locked in each other's reliance could not be placed upon it. In view of the necessity to understand thoroughly the position, feelings, and opinions of England in the matter, and to watch the movement of its government, Beaumarwith a dash of brusquerie, an audacity untenable, early as September, 1775, he sent a secret memorial temporary arrangement by which the trips will be in England; prognosticates a war, and upon the facts upon what basis the transatlantic mail steamship he has received from "an inhabitant of Philadelphia," just arrived to confer with the government, overrated the possible, or, as he thinks, probable effects of the excitement in London, it is because he sound and bold. He takes the triumph of the Amermorials to the King and the minister, M. de Vergen. nes, shows why the Americans must be assisted .-In contrast with Aranda's notion that France was operating against her true interests in assisting America, we find Beaumarchais impressing his King with one fact-" the preservation of cur possessions in America, and the peace which your majesty appears to desire so much, depend solely upon this one proposition: the Americans must be assisted:" He

The fact was, Aranda saw what was coming to the hedge, Lord Boyd cried out, " Baugh !" in the future, and he desired to keep it off. The did the hammer of Luther, nailing his protest to the quietly answered-church-door of Wittenburg, strike on the ears of Old Spain. The very echo of that hammer struck many a dependency from the then mighty empire of Spain. Aranda beheld new races leaping like Titans from Popular government; he also beheld the colonies of Spain thousands of miles with an ocean barrier between, and he said in despair, "never has it been expensive and so distant from the metropolis."

occurrences of his time. Aranda, striving to stay them, was swept down by the mighty current. A Fearful Evil.

The South-Side Democrat, (Petersburg,) says: It is the universal remark, that crime was never so

But the most remarkable suicide is the following, which occurred this week. Two young married couples, farmers, living near Paris, lately moved close to each other. One of the young men fell in love with the wife of his neighbor; his love was reciprocated, and ltason sprang up between them. His wife and the other husband were not long in discovering the infidelity, and in revenge formed a similar connection But they had knowledge of the conduct of the others, while their own remained a secret. Thus they were jealous, and determined to put the other two out of the way, a resolution which they accomplished by means of poison. Justice took

As old age comes creeping on, it brings with it many at tendant infirmities. Loss of appetite and weakness impair the health, and want of activity makes the mind discontented and unhappy. In cases where old age adds its influence, it is almost impossible to add vigor and health, and although many remedies have been tried, all have failed, until BER-HAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS were known and used .-In every case where they have been employed, they have invariably given strength and restored the appetite. REVIEW OF THE WILMINGTON MARKET.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING MAY 14TH, 1857. TURP ENTINE .- The recent rains have caused considerable of a rise in the Northwest branch of the river, but as nearly all of last year's crop had been already brought to market, none of consequence has arrived from above tide-water during the past week, and until more favorable weather the receipts of new must be very light, which will have a tendency to keep prices up. There is very little, if any, demand for shipping purposes, but parcels are generally taken on arrival by distillers. No change to make on former rates, and the Sugar exhibited a partial advance of 6d. Coffee THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMENY FOR market has ruled quite firm at $3 75 for new virgin, and $2 steady. There is a fair enquiry for them, and parcels would wishing to do as much good as possible, he will send to such of his afflicted fellow-beings as request it, this recipe, quote nominally at 81 to 10 cents per lb. for stall fatted, according to quality. COFFEE-The stock of nearly all descriptions is fully fair, and the market rules quiet. Sales for the week confined to small parcels from store at prices ranging within quotations Corron.-There has been very little done in this art cle for some time past, as the receipts have been meagre, and dealers not disposed to operate We note the sale of only one or two small parcels (on Wednes lay) at 134 a 134c. per lb. for low middling and middling.

CORN MEAL—The market is very poorly supplied, with a good demand existing, and prices have gone up a shade.—We quote small sales from store at 92½ a 95 cents per bushel. EMPTY BARRELS-The market rules exceedingly firm for Spirits Turpentine barrels at prices quoted in our last .-There is a good demand existing, with a light stock offering on market, and parcels generally sell quick. We quote sales for the week at prices ranging from $1 75 to $1 875 each for second hand, as in quality.

FLOUR—Parcels have arrived very sparingly for several weeks past, and in consequence of which the supply on market has become materially reduced. The favorable advices received from other markets has also caused more firmness. and prices here have a decided upward tendency. Sales of State brands have been made at $6 75 for fine, $7 25-for superfine, and $7 75 per bbl. for family. At the time of making up our report, holders generally are asking an advance on above figures, but only one or two small lots have sold at $7 50 for superfine. The above quotations are for parcels from wharf, as higher rates have to be paid from store. CRAIN—In Coan there has been considerable activity since our last review, and an advance of fully 7 cents has been obtained over highest quotation of this day week.—

The receipts comprise only about 15,300 bushels, and sales made at prices ranging from 78 to 82 cents per bushel, as follows: 4.450 bushels at 78 cents 4 500 do 51 80 cents last received this morning by Express, at the Hat and Cap Emporium, 34 Market street.

There is but little demand at present, and the stock in dealers hands. 650 do. at 81 cents, 1,400 do. at 81½ cents, 1,300 do. at 82 cents, and balance to order; - market closing at highest fignothing new to note in the market for this article. There is fully fair for the season. A lot of 500 bushels has been re-INGLISH LAWNS. 500 pieces English Lawns, at 125 ceived and gone into store. In the absence of sales we quote nominally at 55 to 60 cents per bushel.—Peas—The market is very poorly supplied, and prices rule exceedingly high. We have had no transactions to report for several week's past; there is an active demand for Cow, and parcels would find quick sale at $1 to $1 05 per bushel, as in quantity. About 700 bushels received a few days since by a dealer, and stored. Nothing done in Black Eye.—RICE— We have no change to notice in the price of clean, and the market is fairly supplied. Sales in the small way from store at 41 a 41 cents per lb., as in quantity and quality.

Hay.—The market is fairly supplied, and rules about the same as reported for some time past. No late receipts of Castern. A lot of 250 bales Northern was received a few days since, and taken by a dealer at $1 per 100 lbs.

become materially reduced; in moderate demand. See ta-Molasses .- The market for Cuba rules firm, with a fair lemand, and prices have again advanced. Former receipt have all been closed off. A cargo of 291 hhds, was received from Cardenas on Tuesday, and is held at 52 a 53 cents per gallon, as in quantity. Potatoes .- Irish are in demand, and few or none on mar-

LIME. - In the absence of receipts the stock on market has ket; -would readily bring $3 50 a $3 75 per bbl. Sweet sell t $1 50 to $1 75 per bushel Provisions .- For N. C. cured Bacon the market continues o rule very firm, and notwithstanding the receipts have been quite heavy for a few weeks past, prices still have a decided upward tendency. Several parcels have been received this week, and stored for higher rates. There has existed a good demand from dealers, and we notice sales of some 20 a 25,000 lbs. at 16 cents for hams, and 14, 14h a 15 cents per lb. for hog round-cash and time-the market closing at highest figures. See table for quotations of sides and shoulders .little or no Western received since our last, and with a moderate demand from dealers the stock in first hands has become very much reduced We note sales from store at 12 a 12; cents for shoulders, and 13; a 14 cents per lb. for sides -the former are in limited demand, but the latter are in light stock, and quick at above figures. — LARD.--No Western make on market. For N. C. make there is an active demand for retailing purposes, and parcels readily taken at high prices. Only one or two small lots have been brought in, and sold at 15 cents in bbls., and 15 a 16 cents per lb. in kegs ;-none now in first bands .-- Pork .- The market is moderately supplied with Northern Mess, and rules firm at former rates. See table for store rates, in quantities to suit

SALT-Nothing done in Alum, and no late receipts. We are unable to give a correct price, in the absence of sales, and therefore omit cargo prices. We quote from store at 50 a 55 cents per bushel. Liverpool sack is in moderate stock, and little or no demand. A lot of 150 sacks (received coast. wise) sold from wharf a few days since at 871 cents per sack-SHINGLES-Rule exceedingly dull, and but few coming in. Nothing done in Contract. Sales of small boat loads Comnon at $1 75 a $2 per M. STAVES-There is a moderate demand for good quality W. O. Bbl. and none of consequence arriving. Sale a day or two since of a small lot (4,000) of undressed at $16 per Timber-Has been brought in moderately during the week, and the market has ruled quite firm, with a fair demand from millers. The sales reach about 25 rafts, at prices ranging from $5 to $9 per M., as in quality. See table.

FREIGHS—We have no material change to make on former rates coastwise. The quantity of produce offering shipment is only moderate, and vessels plenty. See table for last pri-
